ANNOUNCEMENTS.

We are authorized to announce D. S. GODSEY as a candidate for the legislature, subject to action of the democratic party.

SWEEP AT HOME, FIRST, BROTHER.

One thing that has tended to keep back the development of the mountain district of Eastern Kentucky, is the lawlessness existing, and utter disregard of life and property by a number of desperadoes living in that region. With the extermination of the Underwood gang it was thought that lawlessness had been checked, but the many murders and violations of law that have taken place in the past six months, show that the spirit of devilry is still rife. Under this state of affairs it is not possible to enlist either foreign or home capital in the development of the wonderful resources of that region, and the sooner the law-abiding people succeed in gaining the mastery over the criminal classes, the sooner will they reap the benefit of capital that men of wealth are only too anxious to invest if they were guaranteed immunity from the depredations of that lawless class who are now the curse of the mountain country.—Clark County Democrat.

Yea, verily, but why not use a new broom on the blue grass country and sweep that clean, before undertaking to raise the dust in the mountains. We cordially invite comparison as to criminal records, population considered, at any time, and if the record should prove us to be worse than the "country of fair women and fine horses," we will use our efforts through THE HERALD, humble though they be, to wipe out the stain. But, as long as we read of the crime committed in enlightened bluegrassdom, where wealth, education, and a higher moral and religious training should have the effect to blot it out, we cannot have reproach heaped upon our people without entering our solemn protest. The criminal record is had enough all over the state, God knows, and yet we do not see that it is much worse than in some of our sister states further north. We have some bad men to be sure; pray tell us of some section without them, but anyone, be he capitalist or cart-driver, will enjoy immunity from all danger here if his purposes are pure and honest, and he obeys the eleventh commandment—"attend to your own business and let other people's alone." Visit the mountains, and you will find the citizens as warm-hearted and as hospitable as any people you ever came in contact with. Not every man in the mountains carries an arsenal around him, by a large majority. In fact, we doubt if half the number of pistols are carried in the mountains as may to-day be found on the person of citizens in your own locality. It is not in a spirit of controversy that we write this, but that we may be represented as we are. Here peace reigns supreme. Not a quarrel of even the most trivial kind has disturbed the smooth waters of our wonted equilibrium for months. We do not lock our doors at night against the sneak thief and the burglar, for we know them not. In short, the mountain section is not half so bad as some newspapers would make it, and when they publish such items as the above they do us an injustice and injury they wot not of. Therefore, newspapers in other sections will please investigate matters at home before flinging stones at us. And, that they may think twice before they open their bazoos, we beg them to read the following admonitions:

Judge not, that ye be not judged.
And why beholdest thou the mote that is in thy brother's eye, but considerest not the beam that is in thine own eye?
Or how wilt thou say to thy brother, Let me pull out the mote out of thine eye; and behold, a beam is in thine own eye?—Matt. vi. 1, 3, 4.

Dr. N. W. TREACY, the great temperance lecturer who recently accomplished so much good for the cause of temperance in Nicholas county, is now trying his persuasive powers on the people of Mt. Sterling. It is to be hoped that he may there also do much good. If he can but demonstrate to the young men of to-day that "It is as hard to tell where moderate drinking ends and drunkenness begins, as it is to tell where a pig ceases to be a pig and becomes a hog," he will have accomplished much, and may save them tears, sorrow, and ruin later on in life.

The race for legislative honors in this county is practically at an end, and we believe that the nomination of Mr. GODSEY as representative from this legislative district is conceded by all. Mr. GODSEY is a gentleman of more than ordinary intellect, understands the laws of the land pretty well, has a retentive memory and is well posted on affairs of the State. On the whole, D. S. GODSEY will do honor to the district composed of Montgomery, Menifee, Powell and Wolfe, and his constituents may feel that they do themselves honor in honoring him.

THE KENTUCKY DELEGATION.

What They are Doing in Washington.

[Special to the Courier-Journal.]

WASHINGTON, March 14.—The members of the Kentucky delegation called in a body on the president-to-day, and later on the different members of the cabinet. At 1.30 o'clock they met at the capital, and after lunching together as the guests of Mr. Beck they met in the senate finance committee room and discussed the question of federal patronage of Kentucky. Mr. Beck presided. Mr. Willis offered the following resolution and urged its adoption:

"Resolved, That the Kentucky delegation will from time to time, as vacancies occur, recommend by a majority vote applicants for the various federal offices in the State, and that in such recommendation due regard be had to geographical consideration."

Mr. Robertson objected to the resolution, and declared that even should it be adopted he would not be bound by it. He would not vote to rest the fate of any friend of his with the majority, but would use his own best endeavors for him, and by any aid he could command win if he could.

Expressions from the other members followed. At the close, Mr. Robertson offered a substitute for the resolution, declaring it inexpedient for the delegation to take any action at all. The substitute was carried by a vote of five to four. Messrs. Robertson, Blackburn, Halsell, McCreary and Laffoon voted for, and Messrs. Carlisle, Stone, Taulbee and Willis against the substitute. Mr. Beck was in the chair, but did not vote. Messrs. Breckinridge and Wolford are not in town.

It is understood that another meeting will be held in a few days, and still another effort made to secure united action on the part of the delegation.

The first commission of consequence to expire in Kentucky is that of the district attorney, and the candidates for the place were consequently very much interested in the result of to-day's meeting. The status of the whole delegation is not known, but Mr. Willis favors Mr. Fleming, and Mr. Robertson Judge Wyckliffe.

Shooting of Col. Z. T. Young.

[Sentinel-Democrat, March 11.]

Last Saturday about 3 p. m. as Col. Z. T. Young, a prominent lawyer of Morehead, was returning home from Elliotts-ville, a village 8 miles east of Morehead, he was shot by some cowardly cur in ambush. It was snowing very hard, and Col. Young had his hat pulled down over his eyes as a protection against the snow, and was riding leisurely, never dreaming that a cowardly assassin, who had not the nerve to face him, was seeking to take his life unawares. The keen crack of a 44-calibre pistol, the sting of the bullet in Col. Young's right shoulder, awoke him to a realization of his danger. He attempted to draw his pistol, but his shoulder was so lamed by the shot that he could not reach it. He then put spurs to his horse and ran to Morehead, a distance of three miles, and as he ran another shot was fired at him, but without effect. He says he saw two men, but could not recognize either. The wound though very painful, is not considered dangerous.

Cleveland's Cabinet.

The following are the most able men, perhaps, that Cleveland could have chosen as his counselors for the next four years, and the slate shows, what we have all along maintained, that he will be the president of the people and of the party:

Secretary of State—Thomas F. Bayard, of Delaware.
Secretary of the Treasury—Daniel Manning, of New York.
Secretary of War—William Endicott, of Massachusetts.
Secretary of the Navy—William C. Whitney, of New York.
Secretary of the Interior—L. Q. C. Lamar, of Mississippi.
Postmaster General—William F. Vilas, of Wisconsin.
Attorney General—A. H. Garland, of Arkansas.

The Small Advertisement.

Because a merchant cannot afford to insert a half column advertisement in a newspaper is no reason why he should not advertise. All heavy advertisers began with small advertisements. The great merchant princes, like A. T. Stewart, spent at the beginning only small sums each year—a certain per cent. of their income. It is a mistake to suppose small advertisements are not seen. They are not only seen, but as a rule read by all who see them, because their contents can be taken at a glance. Merchants who do not advertise should try the experiment, especially in the dull season. The public will not seek a business man. He must interest the public and make it seek him.

A WORD TO THE LADIES.

You can't afford to shut your eyes to the advent of any new discovery or invention that will make life easier or work more pleasant. You would be unwise to use Tallow Candles while Gas is at hand. You would be unwise to ride in a stage-coach, while Steam Engine and Palace Car await your pleasure. You are equally unwise if you neglect to secure THE NEW AUTOMATIC WHITE SEWING MACHINE. 500,000 White Sewing Machines now make one-half million possessors happy.

The WHITE Sewing Machines!

THE ONE PERFECT MACHINE.
IT STANDS UNRIVALED!

It is the SIMPLEST and MOST DURABLE SEWING MACHINE Made.

STATE NEWS.

The police of Louisville last Saturday closed every gambling den in that city. The exposition at Louisville will open this year on August 15th and close October 14th.

The trial of Sam Clay, for cutting Miss Oldham, near Mt. Sterling last fall, is in progress at Owingsville.

Rev. George O. Barnes, who has been preaching for a long time in London, England, has gone to India, taking his family with him.

Woodford county last Saturday voted on the proposition to give $50,000 for a railroad from Midway to Lawrenceburg, through Versailles.

Thomas Shelby, a Fayette county farmer, is making a fight for the Collectorship of this Internal Revenue District, with good chances of winning. He is related by marriage to Secretary Manning.

The Louisville Democrat says a state that maintains a system of public schools in log house traps and puts its blooded stock into fine barns, either never has been on the highway of civilization or else has run off the track and is on the way to degradation and ruin.

Kentucky exhibits at the New Orleans exposition the thickest veins of coal known in the world. The exhibit embraces all kinds and qualities of our coals. One hundred and forty-six varieties of marble, and one hundred varieties of hard wood are also shown, from our state.—Beatyville Enterprise.

Work on the branch penitentiary at Ed-dyville, in Lyon county, is progressing favorably. There are about 150 men at work on it, and the foundations are nearly completed. It will be so built as to accommodate about 400 prisoners. Arrangements will be such that more cells can be put in, at small cost, if necessary, making room for 800 convicts. It will probably be completed by next October, if everything is favorable.

The first coal ever taken out of the mountains to market was by Wiseman and Barnett about 80 years ago. It was taken from "south drift coal" near where Jackson, in Breathitt, now stands. Jeremiah Lovelace and Nathan Gibbs took the second boat from that place, selling it to Miner Hart at Clay's ferry. The coal was carried out and measured in a tub and grape-vines used for cables.—Beatyville Enterprise.

The Licking Valley Scorchers, after a rest of a year or more, has again resumed publication, and is quite a handsome five column folio. It is edited by Col. J. T. & Claude S. Hazlerigg, and scintillations from its senior here and there appear throughout its columns. Success to you, Bros. Hazlerigg, and may no fiddler ever dare to play "Good bye Lizzy Jane" under your bay window.

The mail carrier from Campton, in this county, to Jackson, in Breathitt, a distance of twenty-five miles, is past 60 years of age. He walks every day, is never behind with the mail, and invariably dances a jig at the terminus of his route after delivering the mail. He goes to Jackson one day and back the next.

GENERAL NEWS.

Blaine called on and had a private conversation with President Cleveland last Friday evening.

The latest news from Washington indicates that removals from office will be slow. Let Democrats hold their peace, time will right all things.—Winchester Democrat.

President Cleveland announces that he will not be governed in his selection of men for office by petitions. This should be comforting to those who have secured so many autographs.

After June 30 a two-cent stamp will carry an ounce instead of a half-ounce letter. Those who try it before that time will cause those to whom they write to pay half of their postage.

Secretary Manning has reduced the number of special treasury agents, whereby it is expected that a saving of $40,000 annually will be effected. The service of forty persons in various parts of the country has been dispensed with.

The first official act of President Cleveland was the nomination of his cabinet; his second to affix his signature to the commission U. S. Grant as an officer on the retired list of the army, with the rank of general.

We have no complaint to make of the organization of the cabinet, on the contrary, it suits us admirably. Bayard, Lamar, Garland, Vilas and Manning, we know to be excellent men, and we believe Judge Endicott and Mr. Whitney to be equally so.—Yeoman.

Gen. Jas. C. Black, of Illinois, was the first man appointed under the new administration. He was made the head of the pension bureau without even soliciting the place, while twenty applicants for the position were in Washington with petitions twenty feet long. First blood for non-petitioners.

A planter in Summerville, Ga., experimented successfully with tobacco last year. He cleared about ten acres of dense oak forest, and made such a good yield that it paid expenses of clearing up the land, its culture, and more than the amount of net profits realized from the production of cotton in middle or southwestern Georgia. It is believed, says a southern paper, that tobacco culture in portions of northeastern Georgia will become universal in a few years, both because of the adaptation of the soil to its successful growth and the profits to be derived therefrom.

Mrs. Jennie Mickel, whose illness we mentioned in last week's issue, we are glad to state is rapidly improving.

Born—To the wife of Fred Day, of this place, on the 17th inst., a son—Stone-well Jackson.

J. T. & F. Day, of this place had a bunch of forty No. 1 mountain cattle on the Mt. Sterling market Monday.

Swango Springs.
The Water of Life for Afflicted Humanity.
IRON IS KING.

These springs are located three-quarters of a mile from the beautiful town of Hazel Green. The water contains a larger per centage of iron than any other water known, hence it is the most valuable in the cure of disease—used internally or externally. Among the many diseases which flesh is heir to, and for which this wonderful water is known to be a positive and permanent cure, are the following:

CONSTIPATION, DYSPEPSIA, SKIN DISEASES, SCROFULA, CATARRH, RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, NERVOUSNESS, &c.
We append a few of the hundreds of testimonials which have been tendered as to the efficacy of this water in disease.
One lady writes: "I am so thankful to the Great Giver of all Blessings that I tried Swango Springs. Freely do I give all the time and money spent there for the health and strength I now enjoy."
A gentleman of Illinois says: I think the water of Swango Springs did me more good than all the nostrums I have ever tried. I will certainly be with you again next spring."
